After World War II, the differences between the United States and the Soviet Union caused the two countries to come into conflict. The Soviets feared the capitalist West, and Western leaders feared communism. Thus began the Cold War, not a conventional war fought with weapons, but a war of political ideologies and a quest for world dominance.

Truman Doctrine
Created in 1947 to stop the spread of communism in the free world, it said that the United States would provide money (in this case, to Greece and Turkey) to countries that were threatened by communist expansion.

Marshall Plan
Proposed in June 1947, the plan provided $13 billion to rebuild war torn Europe because it was believed that communism was only successful in countries that had economic problems.

CHINA AFTER WORLD WAR II

LEADERSHIP UNDER MAO ZEDONG
- The Little Red Book became a “bible” for Chinese Communists.
- 15 million people died of starvation.
- Most industry and commerce was nationalized.
- All private farmland was collectivized.
- Food production did not grow and the population continued to expand.
- The Great Leap Forward combined more than 700,000 existing collective farms into 26,000 vast communes.
- The Great Proletarian Revolution was launched to continue Mao’s plans for a classless society.

COLD WAR CONFLICTS

PROXY WAR
Two powers in conflict use substitutes instead of fighting each other directly

DOMINO THEORY
The idea that if one country falls to communism, neighboring countries will also fall
